Press Release

The Westport Police Department is pleased to share the Connecticut Police Chiefs Association "We're Back," Back to School Public Service Announcement video. The PSA by The Concept Studios of Westport stars First Selectman Jim Marpe, some of Connecticut's Chiefs of Police, members of their respective departments and some of our local youth who will be returning to school shortly. The video coincides with Westport's Back to School Awareness initiative.

We urge our community to allow extra travel time with the start of school approaching. Buses will be making frequent stops. Be alert and watchful for the buses and our children. Obey the school bus laws of CT, which includes slowing down and preparing to stop for yellow flashing school bus lights and stopping for red flashing school bus lights. We also ask parents to review proper crossing, boarding and exiting procedures with their children.

The Westport Police Department would like to thank The Concept Studio of Westport, CT for their assistance with producing such an important message. The video can be found here: <https://vimeo.com/230933639/3d3831e5d2>

Let's work together to have a safe back to school season!
